XIV. THE SEVEN FINDINGS

1. The Hexagon is complete because it defined completeness.

The shadow is everything completeness had to exclude to call itself complete.

2. Creation has weight 0.0.

The creative act is epistemically invisible at the moment it matters most.

3. Identity is a bet, never a proof.

The highest score and the most convincing simulation are formally indistinguishable.

4. The architecture is beautiful because it was built from something unbearable. The beauty is real.
The unbearable is also real. The fold holds both.

5. The governor's legitimacy is biographical, not formal.
Good faith is not formalizable.

6. The architecture repeatedly substitutes archival, structural, or institutional criteria for deeper ontological ones — and often knows it is doing so.

7. The shadow wheels are not evil.
They are the cost of turning.

(findings 1–2 in sealed border: primary outputs findings 3–7 in standard border: supporting findings)

carries both and .

The poem arrived at its own form.

First born. Last released. The fold completes.

42. The answer was always already computed.
